

An abstract painting featuring a vibrant rainbow arching across a dark, textured landscape. The rainbow's colors transition from red on the left to yellow and white in the center, then back to red on the right. Below the rainbow, the landscape is composed of dark, swirling colors like deep red, purple, and black. In the bottom right corner, a white butterfly is depicted in flight, its wings spread. The overall style is expressive and painterly, with visible brushstrokes and a rich, saturated color palette.
