

The image shows a close-up of a marbled paper surface, likely the back of a smartphone. The marbling pattern consists of swirling, organic shapes in shades of light blue, lavender, and pale pink, separated by thin, dark brown veins. In the upper left corner, there is a large, white, pill-shaped cutout, which is the opening for the phone's camera lens. The overall texture of the paper appears slightly grainy and organic.

smartish