

A stylized illustration featuring a large, winding snake in a dark red field. The snake is depicted in a light brown color with a textured, brush-stroke appearance. It has a long, thin neck and a small, forked tongue. The snake's body is coiled in a series of loops, filling most of the frame. In the background, there are several other elements: a large, teardrop-shaped symbol in the upper right corner, a small four-pointed star in the upper center, a small crescent moon in the upper right, and a small four-pointed star in the lower left. There are also some small, irregular brown spots scattered throughout the field. The overall style is minimalist and artistic, with a focus on bold shapes and a limited color palette.
