

An abstract landscape painting. In the upper right, a large, textured orange and red sun or moon hangs in a pale blue sky. Below it, teal-colored mountains rise. A prominent white, brush-stroke-like shape, resembling a waterfall or a path, flows from the upper left towards the center. The lower right features a vibrant orange and red area, possibly a sunset or a body of water reflecting the sky. The bottom of the image is dominated by a dark blue, textured foreground, possibly a body of water or a dark landscape. The overall style is expressive and painterly, with visible brushstrokes and a rich color palette.
