

A painting of a full moon surrounded by lush green foliage. The moon is a pale, textured sphere with visible craters and a blueish-grey rim, positioned in the upper right. It is surrounded by dense, vibrant green leaves and ferns, some of which are highlighted with bright green and white brushstrokes. The background is a deep, dark blue or black, suggesting a night sky. The overall style is painterly and expressive, with visible brushwork and a rich color palette.
